

AIA MPF Contribution Guide

Contribution Guide

To help you easily fulfil your contribution obligations, AIA offers various tools to ease your administrative burden.

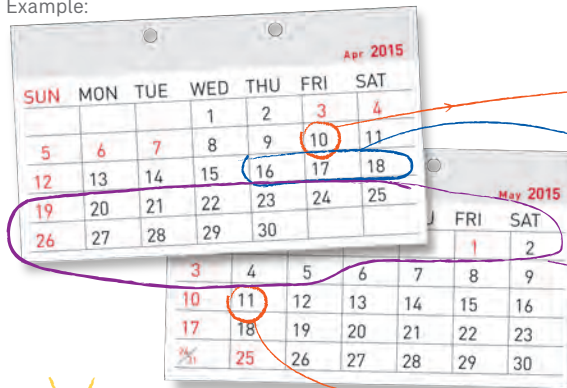

Three simple steps to make contributions easy:

	Dates	You only need to...	Remarks
1	16 th to 18 th	Log into your employer account to read the latest contribution details and update the details if necessary	If you have chosen to submit a hard copy of your contribution data, you will receive a Remittance Statement with pre-filled information around the 24th to 29th of each month.
2	19 th to 5 th of the next month	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Submit contribution data online Ensure sufficient funds are available in the designated autopay bank account to pay the contributions 	You only need to complete a one-time autopay authorisation setup. And your contributions will be automatically deducted from your designated bank account every month after AIA validates your contribution data.
3	Contribution Day (usually the 10 th)*	Ensure contribution data / Remittance Statement and contribution payment are received by AIA	Default contributions will be reported to the MPFA if the Remittance Statement and/or contribution payment are not received by AIA on or before the date.

The e-Monthly Statement will be available online between the 6th and the 10th day of each month. You can log into your employer account to view the details. The e-Monthly Statement shows the transaction history, payment stub, list of outstanding contributions and surcharge details (if applicable).

* If the contribution day is a Saturday, a public holiday, a gale warning day or a black rainstorm warning day, the contribution day will mean the next business day.

Default Contribution

If the employer has not made mandatory contributions for each relevant employee in full on or before the Contribution Day, the Trustee is required to notify the Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Authority (the "MPFA") without issuing any reminder to the employer. A surcharge will then be imposed on the employer. This surcharge is calculated at 5% of the contribution amount in arrears. The employer should settle the default contribution together with the surcharge.

The MPFA may also impose a financial penalty of HK$5,000 or 10% of the default contribution, whichever is greater, on the employer. If the employer fails to submit the remittance statement, a financial penalty may also be imposed. Pursuant to Section 43B(1C) of the Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Ordinance, an employer who has deducted the employee mandatory contributions from the relevant income of an employee but failed to pay them to the Trustee is liable to a maximum penalty of a fine of HK$450,000 and imprisonment for four years. For details, please visit the MPFA website at www.mpfa.org.hk.

Objection to Contribution Surcharges

For lodging any objections to contribution surcharges, employers have to:

1. Complete the "Contribution Surcharge Objection Form" (the "Form") provided by the MPFA, which can be downloaded from the MPFA website at www.mpfa.org.hk or obtained through the Trustee
2. Submit the completed Form together with relevant supporting documents to the MPFA within 14 calendar days from the date of the "Payment Notice for Outstanding MPF Contributions and Surcharge" issued by the MPFA

Employers can only file an objection if the objection is valid and substantiated with evidence that:

1. The employer has made mandatory contributions in full for each relevant employee on or before the Contribution Day with a complete and correct remittance statement submitted; or
2. The employer is not required to make mandatory contributions for the relevant employee
