Default Contribution

If the employer has not made mandatory contributions for each relevant employee in full on or before the Contribution Day, the Trustee is required to notify the Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Authority (the "MPFA") without issuing any reminder to the employer. A surcharge will then be imposed on the employer. This surcharge is calculated at 5% of the contribution amount in arrears. The employer should settle the default contribution together with the surcharge.

The MPFA may also impose a financial penalty of HK$5,000 or 10% of the default contribution, whichever is greater, on the employer. If the employer fails to submit the remittance statement, a financial penalty may also be imposed. Pursuant to Section 43B(1C) of the Mandatory Provident Fund Schemes Ordinance, an employer who has deducted the employee mandatory contributions from the relevant income of an employee but failed to pay them to the Trustee is liable to a maximum penalty of a fine of HK$450,000 and imprisonment for four years. For details, please visit the MPFA website at www.mpfa.org.hk.

Objection to Contribution Surcharges

For lodging any objections to contribution surcharges, employers have to:

- Complete the "Contribution Surcharge Objection Form" (the "Form") provided by the MPFA, which can be downloaded from the MPFA website at www.mpfa.org.hk or obtained through the Trustee
- Submit the completed Form together with relevant supporting documents to the MPFA within 14 calendar days from the date of the "Payment Notice for Outstanding MPF Contributions and Surcharge" issued by the MPFA

Employers can only file an objection if the objection is valid and substantiated with evidence that:

- The employer has made mandatory contributions in full for each relevant employee on or before the Contribution Day with a complete and correct remittance statement submitted; or
- 2. The employer is not required to make mandatory contributions for the relevant employee
